DETAILED ACTION

This is a first office action on the merits of patent application S. N. 10/668,769.

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 7-12 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pinschmidt et al. ('276).

Pinschmidt et al. discloses a triggering arrangement (Fig. 6) for a friction clutch comprising a housing (16) made of titanium (Col. 6, line 16), at least one triggering element (74), a pickup arrangement (Col. 6, line 8), a plurality of triggering elements (88), a projection (78) and a screw (Col. 6, lines 16-20).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4-5 and 13-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pinschmidt et al. ('276).

Pinschmidt et al. discloses the claimed invention except for the discrete triggering elements. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to separate the ring into multiple parts, since it has been held that constructing a formerly integral structure in various elements involves only routine skill in the art. Nerwin v. Erlichman, 168 USPQ 177, 179.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Schreiber ('611), Hodge ('656), and Tanaka et al. ('474) disclose other triggering arrangements.
